SENATOR GORE MADE FRIENDS IN DIXON

THOUSANDS AT ASSEMBLY DELIGHTED WITH HIS ELOQUENT ADDRESS.

BLINDNESS SEEMS NO HANDICAP

Has Advanced Ideas on Governmental Affairs—Believes Taft Will Be Re-Nominated.

Thomas P. Gore, U. S. senator from Oklahoma, was without exception the most eloquent orator who has ever visited Rock River Assembly. For two hours Saturday afternoon this remarkable man and thorough statesman held several thousands of auditors with his excellent address.

The most remarkable feature of Senator Gore is that if you did not know he was blind, his appearance on the platform would be no indication of his affliction.

He seems to look into the eyes of his auditors and his gestures are better than those of the seeing orator. At times when he closes a remarkable statement, his eyes apparently are riveted upon one or two individuals in the audience.

Another remarkable thing about this wonderful man is that he travels alone. He departed from Dixon alone.

Mayor Brinton met the distinguished statesman at the Northwestern depot and Gore, guided by the train porter, was turned over to the mayor, who asked if he was not Senator Gore. He was taken to the mayor's home where he was entertained during his stay in Dixon. It is unfortunate that Senator Gore was not able to see the beauty of Dixon.

"How can you travel alone, Senator?" asked Mr. Brinton.

"I can do it very well and I love to do it. I am more independent when I travel alone," replied the senator.

"How do you do it?" asked the mayor.

"I do it in this manner. You put me on the train. The porter is there to meet me. He takes me in. He also knows I am blind and gives me his undivided attention. When I reach Chicago I ask the porter, who leads me from the train, to get me a boy with a red cap. I know they have boys with red caps for people have told me so. I ask the depot guide to take me to a cab or taxi. The driver of the taxi takes me to the hotel where I wish to stay and the porter of the hotel leads me to the clerk and he and I arrange for my room. In this manner you see I get about very well.

Gore's Address.

Senator Gore's address was a masterpiece. He speaks slowly and distinctly. His auditors do not give him their close attention merely because of pity for his affliction, but because he compels them to listen. His ideas from an insurgent and democratic standpoint are choice. Some were there who will say it was just a democratic speech. It was a plea for votes, in a sense, but not in every particular. The senator gave his views on Canadian reciprocity and also an explanation why he voted for it. He believes reciprocity would be a blessing. He urged the republican party to nominate Taft if they desire to nominate a standpatter. On the other hand, if they wish to nominate an insurgent, Bristow of Kansas, Clapp of Minnesota and Bob LaFollette of Wisconsin were suggested.

If the democrats wish to nominate a good man they should name Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey.

Senator Gore declared the country needs more democrats like Jefferson and more republicans of the Lincoln type.

He spoke good words for Oklahoma, also for Illinois, and took a rap at graft as it existed in Chicago and Springfield.

TO TEACH MUSIC AT DIXON COLLEGE

PROFESSOR WILL H. SMITH IS TO TAKE CHARGE OF THIS DEPARTMENT.

I. F. Edwards, who has taken over the interests of Dixon college and will manage that institution in the future, has engaged Prof. Will H. Smith to take charge of the music department. Mr. Smith will direct all of the musical work with the exception of the vocal department and will have as his assistants Mrs. Smith, their son Dale Smith and his brother, Ed. Smith. Mr. Smith has spent his life teaching music and has an enviable reputation in this part of the state as an instructor upon all classes of musical instruments. Those who are to assist him are also recognized as accomplished musicians and instructors and have been conducting a school and music publishing business in Dixon for a number of years. Mr. Edwards is to be congratulated in securing Mr. Smith and his associates to conduct the music department of Dixon college.

TEACHERS GATHERED HERE THIS WEEK

REGISTRY AT INSTITUTE THIS NOON WAS LUT—SESSION INTERESTING.

Young men and women to the number of 141 were registered this afternoon at the Dixon high school for the Lee County Teachers' Institute. "This registration," said County Superintendent Miller this afternoon, "is very pleasing and gratifying for the first day and it opens up the institute in a very promising manner."

Many young people who are not at present teaching, but who are contemplating it in the near future, are attending the institute and being educated in the ways of the pedagogue.

Mr. Turner, the only new educational man on the staff for the training of the institute member, is making a decided hit with the teachers. He is an exceptionally brilliant man and is particularly well adapted for this sort of work.

MARINE BAND GIVES

CONCERT THURSDAY

The next public concert of the Marine band will be given at the court house square Thursday evening of this week and Prof. Smith announces a program of new selections, which will be very interesting. The work the musicians have had during the Assembly has aided them greatly and the boys are now rendering some excellent music. There will be a rehearsal of the band this evening, which all members are urged to attend.

DIED AS RESULT OF SUN STROKE

MISS MAGGIE NYFZERGER DIED AT DIXON HOSPITAL SUNDAY MORNING.

Miss Maggie Nyfzerger died at the Dixon hospital at 3:45 a. m. Sunday, death following a stroke of paralysis, superinduced by sunstroke about two weeks ago. The deceased, who had been residing with E. B. Fischer at 116 Hennepin avenue, for some time, suffered a partial sunstroke about six weeks ago, from which she never recovered, for paralysis resulted. She was taken to the Dixon hospital for treatment, but the best of medical attention failed to relieve the sufferer and death followed. The young lady was 27 years of age and is survived by her mother and sister, of Red Oak, Ill., who arrived Sunday evening to take charge of the remains. The body was taken to Red Oak this morning for interment.

HENRY L. YOUNG DIED EARLY TODAY

FOLLOWS WIFE TO GRAVE AFTER 60 YEARS WEDDED LIFE.

Henry L. Young died today at 3 a. m. at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. C. Smith. He was born on July 18, 1830, at Somerset, Pa., and on Oct. 10, 1850, was married to Mary Huppel, who preceded him in death on March 7, 1911. On Oct. 10, 1910, they celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary, at which all their children and grand children were present. They came to Dixon from Pennsylvania 29 years ago and have remained here since that time. Three children were born: Mrs. Clarence Smith, Mrs. Cyrus Barron and Mrs. Frank Young. The funeral will take place Wednesday at 10 a. m. at the home of J. C. Smith. Rev. J. G. Finkbeiner, former pastor of the Evangelical church, will have charge of the services.

MANY ATTENDED

FUNERAL SUNDAY

The funeral of Mrs. Rose Tague, held Sunday afternoon, was exceptionally large, a host of friends of the deceased paying their tributes to her memory. The floral remembrances were very beautiful and profuse and the sermon by Father Foley was a perfect eulogy of a beautiful life. Interment was at Oakwood.

The pall bearers were Frank Vaile, Michael Maloney, John Burke, Henry Duffy, Daniel Blackburne and Hugh Curran. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. Vaughan and family of Chicago attended the funeral.

TWINS BORN

Twins weighing seven pounds each, a boy and a girl, were born Friday night to Mr. and Mrs. John Minnehan.

CARNIVAL SHOWS OPEN THIS EVENING

WASHOUTS ON ILLINOIS CENTRAL DELAYED COMING 24 HOURS.

BIGGEST SHOW OF ITS KIND

The Concert Band is a Dandy—Athletic Park Is to Be Well Lighted.

Parker's big carnival company, to open a week's engagement at Athletic park this evening, arrived this morning at 9 o'clock, nearly 24 hours later than they had expected to, the delay being caused by the big washout on the Illinois Central, nearly 150 feet of roadbed near Sublette being carried away.

However, the delay will not interfere with the opening of the big shows this evening and the management announces that inasmuch as the company is accustomed to delays everything will be in readiness for this evening's performance.

Lights to Park.

And the road to the park will be well lighted. The local promoters this morning arranged with the Lee County Lighting company to hang many lights along the streets to the park, and in fact will do everything to make the journey to and from the carnival pleasant.

This is the largest carnival company on the road. Thirty 10-foot cars are required to carry it and every kind of innocent amusement can be found on the grounds. There are five shows the fronts of each of which are 120 feet wide, and in addition there are scores of smaller attractions.

A Great Band.

Incidentally, the Parker company is this year featuring a big concert band and it is a concert band in every sense of the word. Every man is a picked musician and as there are 35 of them under a capable director, it can be readily understood that the music furnished is high class. The band will give concerts every evening during the company's stay in the city.

ICE WAGON WAS HEAVIER THAN AUTO

RUNAWAY TEAM DAMAGED HOON & HALL'S MACHINE THIS MORNING.

Hoon & Hall's auto was badly damaged early this morning when a runaway team of the Artificial Ice company crashed into it, and as a result it will be several days before the machine can be used again. The team, which was hitched to wagon No. 4, started running at the south end of the Galena avenue bridge and struck the auto, which was standing in front of the grocery store at the north end of the bridge. The front axle was broken, the radiator and one lamp were badly damaged and the fender was torn loose from the machine. The ice wagon, which is very heavy, was not damaged, nor were the horses injured.

SEEK BIDS FOR BLOCK OF PAVING

HENNEPIN AVENUE, BETWEEN THIRD AND FOURTH, TO BE IMPROVED.

The board of local improvements held a meeting at the city hall Saturday morning when they advertised for bids for the paving of Hennepin avenue, between Third and Fourth streets, under local improvement ordinance No. 129. The bids will be received until 1:30 o'clock Thursday, August 24. The estimated cost of the improvement is $2349.59.

LICENSED TO WED

A marriage license was issued on Saturday to Louis C. Schrader and Miss Lulu Foster, both of this city.

WASHOUT TIED UP I. C. FOR TWO DAYS

A LONG STRETCH OF ROADBED NEAR SUBLETTE CARRIED AWAY.

After nearly 30 hours constant labor, during which a big gang of men and a number of trains were kept busy, the big washout near Sublette on the Illinois Central was repaired sufficiently at 7 a. m. today to allow the passage of the first train since 4 a. m. Saturday. The washout was the worst the road has had for years. Over 130 feet of roadbed, about one mile north of Sublette, was carried away by high water Saturday morning. As the fill at this point was 15 to 20 feet deep in places the labor necessary to repair it can easily be estimated. During the time passengers, mail and express trains have been hauled to the edge of the washout and transferred to trains on the other side.

MRS. LAVINA JOHNSON SUES FOR DIVORCE

WAS OBLIGED TO LEAVE HUSBAND BECAUSE OF HABITUAL DRUNKENNESS.

Through her attorneys, Wooster & Edwards, Mrs. Lavina Johnson of this city Saturday commenced divorce proceedings against her husband, Charles Johnson, whose whereabouts are unknown. Mrs. Johnson stated that they were married at Clinton, Ia., Aug. 4, 1908, and they lived together until Oct. 1, 1910, when because of the defendant's habitual drunkenness and repeated and extreme cruelty she was compelled to leave him. She asks the right to resume her maiden name, Lavina Weaver.

MOVING BANK VAULT IS NO SMALL TASK

WEIGHS SEVERAL TONS AND IS BEING MOVED WITH ROLLERS AND JACKS.

The workmen who are remodeling the City National bank this morning commenced the hardest task of all connected with the rebuilding, when the big steel vault was started on its journey to the new foundation. In the eastern end of the enlarged room the big vault is built of heavy black steel and could not be taken apart, consequently it was necessary to move it en masse. As it weighs many tons, and the men are working in a small room, the task is no easy one. It was jacked up and put on heavy timbers, under which the rollers were placed and it was moved by jacks, there being no room for windlasses of any kind. The big vault is being placed on a concrete foundation.

SEARCHING FOR HER RUNAWAY BOY

MRS. EMMA KING ASKS FOR ASSISTANCE IN HER SEARCH.

Mrs. Emma King, 421 Galena avenue, has asked the Telegraph to help her locate her 15 year old son, John, who ran away from the Nachusa orphanage about six weeks ago. At that time, it will be remembered, she reported to the sheriff that the boy was missing, and it was then thought he had gone to work for some farmer. However, she has received no word of him and she is very greatly worried about the boy. He had been in the orphanage about six years before he ran away.

Chicago, Aug. 14.—Generally fair today and tomorrow except local thunderstorms are indicated; warmer; variable winds, mostly moderate, southerly.

3RD REGIMENT READY TO RECEIVE GOVERNOR

Indiana Governor Whose Friends Are Booming Him for President.

PUBLIC RECEPTION FOR THE GOVERNOR

WILL BE HELD AT ELKS' CLUB BUILDING TOMORROW AFTERNOON.

Tomorrow will be Governor Chas. S. Deneen's day in Dixon. The chief executive of the state will come to Dixon with his staff, which includes Adjutant General Dickson and many other prominent state officers, and it is proposed by the Citizens' association to make the governor's visit here very pleasant.

To accomplish this a public reception will be held at the Elks' club from 1 to 2:30, at which time Mr. Deneen will leave for Camp Deneen where he will inspect the Third regiment. The reception will be an informal one and every citizen is invited to come to the Elks' rooms between the hours named and meet the governor.

The commander-in-chief and his staff, there being about 30 in the party, will arrive at 11:05 a. m. tomorrow. They will be met by a committee from the Citizens' association which committee will escort them to dinner. The reception will be held immediately after dinner.

COUNCIL TO MEET FOR SHORT SESSION

NOTHING OF SPECIAL IMPORT IS ON THE PROGRAM TONIGHT.

It is not thought the meeting of the city council this evening will be long, as it is known there is little important business to come up. It is possible the commissioners may discuss the saloon question, in that there is the proposed limitation ordinance and it is reported that the three who have applications before the council for that extra license, may again ask the council to take some action thereon.

THINK MEMBERS OF MILITIA TOOK FURNITURE

North side residents are up in arms over the disappearance of porch furniture, which they allege has been taken by some of the militiamen in camp at Camp Deneen. Several complaints were registered with Commissioner Gannon today, and Mr. Gannon will take the matter up with Col. Greene, in command of the regiment.

MONTHLY REPORT FOR CITY PREPARED

The regular monthly report of the city administration for the month of July was delivered to the printers this morning for publication and will probably be ready for distribution by the end of the week. The report shows a balance in the general fund of $13,176.18.

Tomorrow will be the big day of the week at Camp Deneen, for at 4 o'clock in the afternoon Governor Charles S. Deneen, commander-in-chief of the Illinois National Guard, will inspect the Third regiment, which is in camp here. Governor Deneen is scheduled to arrive at the camp grounds at 2:45 o'clock. He will be met at the entrance to the camp by the First Battalion, commanded by Major Lewis F. Strawn of Pontiac.

This battalion will escort the governor to Col. Greene's headquarters, where an impromptu reception will be tendered the governor by the officers of the regiment. At 4 o'clock the big event of the day will take place, for at that time the governor will review the troops, which is always a very spectacular affair. At that time the entire regiment will be dressed in their blue uniforms and some additional manoeuvres will be gone through.

Crowds Will Visit Camp.

Sunday was a big day at the camp. All during the day the grounds were thronged with interested people and in the evening during the dress parade and band concert there were several thousand spectators. The morning at the camp was very quiet as no drills are given on the Sabbath. After dinner the boys had a few hours to themselves, in fact until 2:30 o'clock, when church call was sounded.

The troops were marched into the shady grove east of the camp ground where the services were held, and in addition to the members of the regiment many townspeople were in attendance.

The services were conducted by Chaplain Nicholas B. Clinch of Rockford, and the music was furnished by the excellent band, under the direction of Prof. Tonigges.

Program of Services.

Mr. Clinch's remarks were of excellent merit. All who were in attendance enjoyed the service in every detail. The male quartet, which was picked from the regiment, and which was under the direction of Prof. Tonigges, sang with precision and feeling, and the four voices blended perfectly.

The Dress Parade.

TO DEVELOP PEAT BEDS OF WHITESIDE

A COMPANY CAPITALIZED AT $250,000 IS BUILDING A LARGE PLANT

There is in the western part of Whiteside, county an industry of no little proportions. At this place there are extensive peat beds covering 6000 acres.

The National Peat Products and Chemical Company has been organized and incorporated with a capitalization of $250,000 to work the beds. The company has been quietly at work for months and has secured long time leases on a large tract of the peat land. Work has been started on the factory, a force of twelve men being employed there, after the plant is completed a force of 25 men will be employed.

The company has been licensed under the laws of the state of Illinois and all sorts of by-products of peat will be manufactured in the new plant which is being erected, such as gas, carbon black, printing inks, antiseptics, poultry charcoal, metal and glass polish, carriage condiments for all kinds of stock. The capacity of the plant will be ten tons a day on the dry basis. The plant site was purchased some time ago and the land leased. A large rooming and boarding house has been erected on the site in which the employees dwell. The plant will be modern and the most up to date machinery will be used. The peat bed has been thoroughly investigated, and was found to be from 12 to 32 feet in depth, the substance existing in such vast quantities that the bed will not be exhausted for generations.

Rachel Marks has returned from a pleasant visit of three weeks in St. Joseph, Mo.

Miss Irma Pike of Clinton, Ia., is visiting Miss Lillian Graves, North Dixon.

ATTY. LEROY BROWN IN RAILWAY WRECK

MISS CARRIE ROSENTHAL WAS TO TAKE ILL-FATED TRAIN EAST.

Providence in the form of a physician saved Miss Carrie Rosenthal from being a passenger on the ill-fated Pennsylvania 18-hour limited, which was wrecked at Fort Wayne, Ind., last evening. Miss Rosenthal, who has many relatives here and who is well known to Dixonites, had planned to take the train east, but on the advice of her physician postponed the trip a few days. The train was derailed at Fort Wayne and four were killed and 30 injured. Among the list of injured is Leroy Brown, named as an attorney from Chicago, and Dixon people who know the young man are wondering if it is the son of Dr. Brown, formerly of this city, who is practicing law in Chicago.

PEORIA MEN ARE BIG ADVERTISERS

ONE FIRM USES 70,000 INCHES OF SPACE A YEAR IN ONE PAPER

At a meeting in Quincy recently, to boost for a greater Quincy, the business and professional men present were addressed by the editors of the four daily newspapers published there. Hiram W. Wheeler, editor and owner of the Journal, wandered from city booming to some remarks on the advertising enterprise of Quincy merchants compared with those of other cities of Quincy's class. Mr. Wheeler years ago, edited a paper in St. Charles, Kane county. He is a man of unusual personal force and originality. In his Quincy speech he said:

"Neither do I know of any other town of Quincy's size, or anywhere near its size, in which the newspapers are so poorly patronized by the business men of the town as are Quincy's daily papers. I'm not saying this in the way of complaint, I'm not saying this to make anyone the least bit uncomfortable. I'm merely stating an incontrovertible fact; a fact that should be called to mind in this rich community. This condition should not prevail in Quincy, for there is no other town in the west whose business men are better able to give its daily newspapers a fair support than are the business men of Quincy. Schipper & Block, of Peoria, use 70,000 inches of space a year in the Peoria Star. Twenty of Quincy's heaviest advertisers will not use that much space in a year in any Quincy newspaper. Let this fact sink into your mind and mull it over for a month or two."

THANKSGIVING DAY SET FOR NOV. 30

PRESIDENT SETTLES QUESTION OF FIVE THURSDAYS IN MONTH

Washington, D. C. Aug. 12.—President Taft, it was learned today, will designate Thursday, November 30, as Thanksgiving day this year.

It has always been the custom to fix the last Thursday in the month.

This year there has been some doubt because November happened to include five, instead of four Thursdays.

The White House has been besieged by theatrical managers and those in charge of college football games to settle this doubt, so that the final arrangements could be made for the usual array of special performances and sports that mark the day.

POWER COMPANY MADE QUICK REPAIR

The S. D. & E. force established a new record Saturday in repairing the damage caused by lightning Saturday morning, when the field of the big generator was burned out. The accident occurred at 6:40 that morning, but the force at the power plant had the field rewound and the generator going and furnishing power for the line at 8 p. m. Saturday.

R. will have charge of the services and the sermon will be delivered by Rev. F. D. Stone. Interment will be at Oakwood.

The coroner's jury which investigated Mr. Cole's death Saturday evening, found a verdict that the deceased had come to his death through natural causes, probably heart failure. BROWNS WILL PLAY STARS NEXT SUNDAY

GAME CALLED OFF YESTERDAY MORNING BY THREATENING SKIES.

The proposed game between the Stars and Amboy Shamrocks at Athletic park yesterday afternoon was called off in the morning by the local management, the threatening skies and supposition that the Parker people would be here early, causing the action. However, with the Amboy team had been notified not to come the skies cleared off and word was received that the carnival company would not arrive until evening, consequently a great deal of disappointment was felt among the fans.

But next Sunday will compensate to some extent, for then the Stars and Browns will meet in their second contest for the local championship. The Stars have not forgotten the horseshoe win of the Browns a week ago and hope for an even division of luck in the next game, getting which they promise to give the big boys a trouncing.

FREEPORT WANTS GAME WITH DIXON

SEEK DATE HERE FOR EITHER AUGUST 27TH OR SEPTEMBER 3RD.

The management of the Browns this morning received a letter from Geo. Lebrecht, manager of the Freeport Independents, asking for a ball game here either Aug. 27, or Sept. 3rd. Manager Valle is considering the matter. Inasmuch as there are still two games to play with the Stars in the local championship series, he is undecided what action to take.

COMRADE ANGLE VISITS THE CAMP

FATHER OF CAPT. ANGLE IS VETERAN OF THE CIVIL WAR

Comrade Angle, father of Captain Angle, Regimental Quartermaster of the 6th I. N. G., and who is acting Post Quartermaster, was at Camp Decatur Saturday morning and watched with keen interest the incoming troops. Mr. Angle served during the War of the Rebellion in the 46th Ill. Vol. Mr. Angle was very young at the time of his enlistment and was considerably under weight, he weighing about 100 pounds. It would have been impossible to have passed the rigid test that was made at the time of his enlistment, but his determination was rewarded by being allowed to go to the front with the boys of his home village. Mr. Angle is still an active man and is every inch a soldier. He enjoyed the sight of the boys preparing camp, and said that it recalled the old days.

Mr. Angle enjoys another distinction beside his serving under adverse circumstances and that is that from his home town, Cedarville, Ill., he was one of 64 men who went from 18 families. One family sent 7 men to the front, 6 sons and the father. Mr. Angle has always been active in G. A. R. affairs and has been tireless in his efforts at keeping track of his old comrades.

DIXON OPERA HOUSE.

The Missouri Girl at the opera house last evening fully substantiated the impression made through her former visits to Dixon as being a first class production, and pleased to the limit a fair sized audience. Dixon will welcome her return at any time.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hills, former of Streator, but who expect to go west and spend about a year before deciding upon a permanent place of residence there, are visiting with relatives in this city.

What! Actually buy outright the $100 Oliver Typewriter for Seventeen-Cents-a-Day
Yes, sir---that's the proposition on the new model Oliver No. 5, the Standard Visible Writer.

We not only invite you—we urge you—to take advantage of our Seventeen-Cents-a-Day Purchase Plan.

This plan was devised for the benefit of the many thousands who are renting machines or doing without them for lack of the ready cash.

In selling you an Oliver Typewriter we meet you more than half way. A small cash-payment brings the machine. We willingly wait while you pay at the rate of Seventeen-Cents-a-Day.

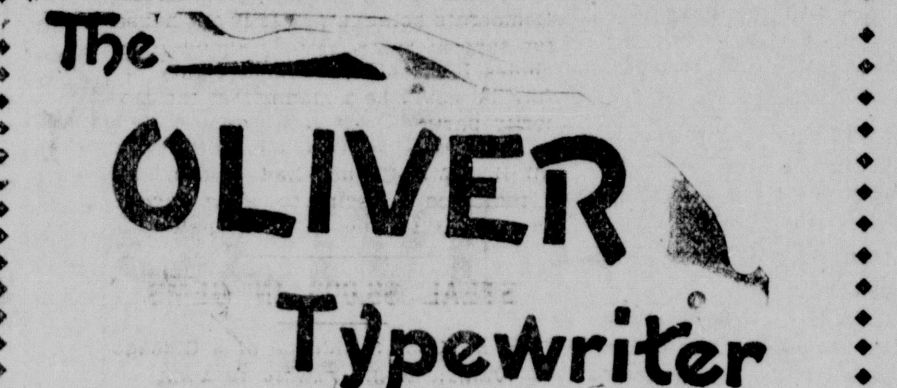

We don't want a cent of security. Just your promise to pay is enough.

Thousands Sold for 17-Cents-a-Day

Since we began selling typewriters on this broad-gauge plan our business has more than doubled. Tons of metal have been turned into thousands of typewriters and sent all over the world to supply the demand for Oliver's at Seventeen-Cents-a-Day! We have ample capital and confidence to sell typewriters on this plan. Our losses are infinitesimal. The public has justified our confidence in such an impressive manner that today we are just as glad to book orders on the "Penny Plan" as we are for all cash in advance.

Swiftest, Strongest, Simplest, $100 Typewriter

The speed of the Oliver sets a pace that has never yet been excelled. Its strength and endurance are such that it serves you efficiently for a lifetime. No other machine in the $100 class compares with it in simplicity, for we do away with hundreds of parts used on other standard typewriters. The first crude model of the Oliver Typewriter was built from an old wash-boiler and the type of a country print shop. The machine was a curious looking affair, but the principles embodied in its design were destined to revolutionize the typewriter world.

Model No. 5 Wins World's Applause

This model has captivated the public by its wealth of exclusive features which save time and effort, add scores of new uses, and give tremendous gains in efficiency. The new "coat of mail" protects important working parts from dust, gives added strength and stability. The disappearing indicator shows exact printing point and ducks when type strikes the paper. The Vertical and Horizontal Ruling device is a wonderful convenience.

The Automatic Tabulator and the Line-Ruler are Twin Devices. Each supplements and completes the other, in tabulating, invoicing and all kinds of statistical work. The Balance Shifting Mechanism, the Automatic Paper Fingers, the Paper Register, the Back Spacer and other innovations put the finishing touch of perfection to this incomparable writing machine. You get all these immensely valuable improvements, without additional cost, when you buy the Oliver Typewriter for Seventeen-Cents-a-Day.

Send for Book and "17-Cents-a-Day Offer NOW!

We have told you, very briefly, about the machine and the Plan. Free books giving details in full are yours for the asking. If you are a salaried worker the use of a $100 Oliver Typewriter will increase your efficiency and force you to the front. It has helped thousands to better salaries and more important positions. If you are in business for yourself, make the Oliver your silent partner and it will do its full share towards the development and success of your enterprise. Whether you wish to take advantage of the Seventeen-Cents-a-Day offer or not, you should have a copy of the Oliver Book and become better acquainted with the typewriter that has made itself indispensable to the business world and broken all records in sales. If you own "any old typewriter," we will accept it in lieu of the first payment on the Oliver Typewriter.

WHAT I WENT THROUGH

Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Natick, Mass.—"I cannot express what I went through during the change of life before I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in such a nervous condition I could not keep still. My limbs were cold, I had creepy sensations, and I could not sleep nights. I was finally told by two physicians that I also had a tumor. I read one day of the wonderful cures made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it, and it has made me a well woman. My neighbors and friends declare it had worked a miracle for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth its weight in gold for women during this period of life. If it will help others, you may publish my letter."—Mrs. NATHAN B. GREATOR, 61 N. Main Street, Natick, Mass.

The Change of Life is the most critical period of a woman's existence. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

EDNA BEATS NAT TO IT

Miss Goodrich Publishes Novel in Magazine.

Mr. Goodwin's Reminiscences of Married Life Not Ready for Publication.

New York, Aug. 14.—Nathaniel C. Goodwin, actor and literary person, versus Miss Edna Goodrich, literary person and actress. The issue has been joined by the appearance in the September number of the Green Album of the initial installment of Miss Goodrich's serial novel, "The Deynard Divorce," entered in answer to Mr. Goodwin's nascent reminiscences of the experiences of a married man.

Mr. Goodwin has so far given out for publication only little bits of his matrimonial memoirs, in one polished gem of which he recollects Miss Goodrich as "a matrimonial incident."

"Whether the Nick Deynard of my novel is that Nat Goodwin of her married life Miss Goodrich refuses definitely to say. The reader, however, is struck at once by the similarity between Nick and Nat, no less than by the ocular similarity between the Edna of real life and the Brenda of the story," say the publishers.

Washington, Aug. 14.—A revolution overthrew the government of Ecuador on August 11, with comparatively few casualties, according to a dispatch received at the state department from Evan R. Young, American minister to Ecuador.

President Alfaro, Mr. Young said, was deposed and took refuge in the Chilean legation. The movement was in behalf of President Estrada, who is expected to arrive at Quito shortly. The president of the senate organized a provisional cabinet and is acting as president. The capital, Minister Young added, is quiet and orderly.

AIR MEET IN CHICAGO

Noted Aviators from Five Nations Take Part.

Over 100,000 People Assemble on the Lake Front to See the Flights.—Guns Open Meet.

Chicago, Aug. 14.—At 3 o'clock in the afternoon the first boom of a salute of ten guns, fired two minutes apart, formally inaugurated the great aviation meet and at 3:45 the aeroplanes began circling the course in Grant park on the lake front in the first aerial speed contests ever seen in Chicago.

Aviators from five nations were on hand to take part in the contests, and over 100,000 persons turned out to witness the flights.

Later in the afternoon there were other competitions, including a passenger carrying speed contest for biplanes, an altitude flight and an over water race, the course being from the aviation field and around the water works circling three and a half miles out in the lake.

Motor boats were stationed at various points along the course ready to rush to the assistance of any unfortunate aviator who might drop into the water.

The veteran standpatter is said to be undecided whether he will be a candidate again. Mr. Cannon is seventy-five years old. With the prospects of the Democrats being in power in the house for several years, Mr. Cannon concludes he would be almost eighty before he could be a member of the majority party.

"Too early to talk about it," was all that Mr. Cannon had to say. "If I indicated a desire to come back I fancy that I could be renominated."

LIVERPOOL SEES BLOODY BATTLE

Lively Scrimmage on Streets Results in One Death.

CLUBS TAKEN FROM POLICE

Warwickshire Yeomanry Clear Streets at Length and Wounded Are Taken Away—Scores of Strikers Injured.

Liverpool, Aug. 14.—The streets of this city were turned into a battlefield, as the culmination of the labor unrest.

The thoroughfares were crowded in all directions from St. George's hall, outside of which 100,000 transport workers gathered for a demonstration. The crowd was excited from the beginning, but everything went well until a resolution to fight to the bitter end was carried, and then a comparatively trifling incident started an affray.

The police removed several boys from a window sill upon which they had perched. The act of the police infuriated the crowd which began to attack them with belts, bottles and stones. There was terrible confusion. The reserves were called out and an attempt was made to clear the streets in the vicinity of the hall. A detachment of Birmingham police became hemmed in and in short order their truncheons were wrested from them and turned upon them by the crowd. The police finally succeeded in dispersing the crowd. The fighting continued for some time. Many were knocked down and had their skulls cracked.

Very soon the whole area was in a state of panic. Mounted police were rushed to the scene, where they took on the likeness of a battlefield.

Men bespattered with blood, lay unconscious on the pavements. A magistrate arrived and read the riot act. After that the Warwickshire yeomanry came on he double quick and soon the streets were cleared of all but the wounded, who were removed to hospitals in ambulances.

But the rioters though dispersed were sullen, and as they went away they uttered their threats of reprisal. One policeman died as the result of the fighting and others are in a bad way, among them Superintendent Dent. Scores of the strikers were injured.

MARSHALL MEN BECOME ROUSED

Wilson Democratic Club Organized in Indianapolis.

CAMPAIGN IS ABOUT TO OPEN

Friends of Indiana Governor to Send out Letters Urging His Candidacy and Discouraging Wilson Boom.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 14.—Friends of Governor Marshall have been aroused by the formation of a Wilson club in this city and the knowledge that efforts for the formation of similar clubs in other cities are making.

This week some 1,500 letters will be sent out to county officers and leading politicians, urging them to discountenance the Wilson movement in their respective localities. It is charged that Governor Wilson himself is opposed to any fight being made for him in Indiana, and a quotation from a letter from a New Jersey supporter of Wilson will be incorporated in the letters.

A strong appeal is made for harmony in the party and it is stated that with the united support of the Indiana Democracy, there is more than a mere chance that the presidential nomination will come to this state. Marshall is praised for his loyalty to the party, for the record he has made and for the honor that has administration has shed on the state, and it is stated that he can carry the state if nominated by the national Democracy.

An anti-Marshall man, who was told of the plan of the governor's friends, said that Wilson clubs were already being organized in five of the largest cities of the state and that a state organization would be perfected before the new state central committee is elected. It is the purpose, he said, to make a fight for control of the state organization and that many of Marshall's friends will work with them on the theory that Marshall is simply being used by designing men in the party as trading material in the national convention.

STRIKE COST $7,500,000

Traffic in London Has Been Resumed—Car Men Disgruntled.

London, Aug. 14.—London is almost itself again. A few hours after an official announcement that the strike had been settled the flood of traffic which had been held up for two or three days was released and supplies were rushed out to replenish empty markets and stores.

It is estimated that the strike of dock men and the carriers cost the metropolis at least $7,500,000. Car men employed by two railroad companies claim to have private grievances, and refused to return to work under the general settlement. They threaten to paralyze the city traffic again.

VETO GOES TO CONGRESS TODAY

President First Confers with Republican Leaders.

LAST WORD ON JUDGES' RECALL

New Mexico And Arizona So Closely Linked Together That Former Must Be Debarred on Latter's Account.

Beverly, Mass., Aug. 14.—President Taft left Beverly for Washington with the veto message upon the New Mexico and Arizona statehood bills stowed away in his luggage.

It is probable that the message will be sent congress today. Conferences with Republican congressional leaders were to be held and unless Mr. Taft desires to make some change in the message following these conferences it will probably be sent direct to congress.

The message is understood to be confined solely to the recall of the judiciary provision of the Arizona constitution. The constitutions of the two states were so closely linked together for political purposes that New Mexico must suffer debarment because of this provision of Arizona's constitution.

The message represents the major part of three days' hard work by Mr. Taft and he has prepared it with the greatest care, revising it text again and again. It is his final word upon the issue of recall of the judiciary and states his attitude in the most emphatic manner possible. It is quite lengthy and is considerably well spiced throughout, as few questions have stirred the president deeper than that of recall of judges.

Besides the statehood veto message, Mr. Taft during his three day stay here has prepared the material for a veto message on the wool bill which will probably be sent in a few days after the statehood veto.

The president enjoyed a few hours rest before he left Beverly in his automobile for Boston, where he took the federal express for Washington. Mrs. Taft and Miss Helen Taft accompanied him as far as Lynn in his machine and then motored back to Farmatta.

BIG MASKED MOB LYNCHES NEGRO

Slayer of Policeman Dragged from Pennsylvania Hospital.

CREMATED ON FIERY PYRE

Bound to Cot, Poor Wretch Leaps From Fire Three Times and Is Forced Back by Mob Leaders.

Coatsville, Pa., Aug. 14.—A mob of 400 men, masked with handkerchiefs, battered down the doors of the Coatsville hospital, dragged out Ezekiel Walker, the negro, charged with killing Special Policeman Rice Saturday night, carried him half a mile, manacled to his hospital cot, and burned him alive.

The lynching was accomplished only after the negro, mad from pain, had leaped from the blazing pyre built over him, and tried to escape, dragging the bed to which he was bound by his handcuffs. A crowd of 2,000 watched the mob leaders beat the man with fence rails and force him, shrieking, back into the flames. Three times he bounded up and three times was thrust back, until finally the quivering body fell into the fire.

Only then was the mob satisfied. The masked men walked back to the town and a half hour later they had dispersed as rapidly as they had gathered.

ATWOOD FLIES IN ST. LOUIS

It is necessary for Atwood to reach New York by August 26 in order to win $10,000 offered for his arrival at Coney Island on Monday.

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 14.—Because she had twelve times refused to become his wife, August McDonald, a young machinist, shot Ethel Hunt at her home and then sent two bullets through his own head. The young man died almost immediately, but the young woman, who is shot in the side, breast and shoulder, will recover.

PROPER CHEWING OF FOOD

Children Should Be Taught to Masticate Thoroughly and Give the Saliva a Chance.

At a recent dental meeting, held in Indiana, a speaker made this statement: "The education of the average man, woman and child has been sadly neglected. They have been taught to eat, but have not been taught to use their teeth. When we bolt our food we ignore one of the most important ferments, ptyalin, in our saliva, that has much to do in the process of digestion. But the American habit is to spit, and the Americans are the greatest spitters in the world. Between meals they spit out the invaluable saliva; then when they chew, they wash down every unchewed mouthful of food with copious draughts of water, coffee or in summer, iced tea. What a foolish, disgusting habit it is, and more than foolish, more than disgusting, it is killing in its hurtfulness. A habitual spitter at middle age will have the broken down digestive apparatus of an old man at seventy-five. Men who bolt their food, who put their saliva out of business, are drug shop chasers and slow suicides."

In answer to inquiries addressed to one hundred and fifty leading physicians in this country, 98 per cent. of these physicians said that chewing of food was an important factor towards good health, and that the bolting of food frequently caused cancer, catarrh of the stomach and gastric ulcers. If food is not thoroughly chewed and is permitted to reach the stomach in large lumps or masses, there is no question that it must injure the soft lining of that organ, producing many of the cases of ulcer and catarrh that need careful and consistent medical attention.

It has been said that fully 75 per cent. of the people of this country bolt their food. This habit is usually acquired during the early years of childhood, and carried on during one's whole life. In many of the homes the early morning hours are given to preparing the children for school. Very frequently they are permitted to sleep late, and then in the hurry and bustle to get them to school on time, the breakfast is bolted. These same conditions of hurried meals apply to the lunch hour and at supper time. From day to day this is permitted, until the habit is firmly established, carried up to manhood and then down through old age. We have a lesson every day of the bolting of food. Walk into the quick lunch room of the cities and see these "hustlers" at work. Look down the long row of tables, see the rapid movement of the eating contest, for which prizes are offered to the fellow that gets through first. Many of these lunch rooms advertise how quickly you may be filled from their larder, and take pride in the number that can be filled in a given time.

It should be the duty of all parents to make their children eat slowly, and chew their food properly. Nature has placed the teeth in our mouth for a very valuable purpose. If we neglect to keep them in shape and to properly use them, we are inviting conditions that seriously threaten our health and general welfare. (Copyright, Western Newspaper Union.)

GUM DISEASE IS PREVALENT

Many Persons Afflicted With Pyorrhea Alveolaris, Which Attacks Tissues Around the Teeth.

The disease known as pyorrhea alveolaris is probably the most prevalent of all dental diseases, for more teeth are lost from this condition than all others combined. The disease occurs in the mouths of all classes of people—more frequently, however, in the mouths of those who have been rather neglectful in regard to the care of the teeth. Yet pyorrhea can and does occur in the mouths of those who give their teeth the best attention. The disease differs from "decay of the teeth" in that the tissues around the teeth are attacked and destroyed rather than the teeth themselves.

The most important thing to be impressed upon the mind of the patient is the fact that the best and most permanent results can be obtained in the treatment of the disease when it is recognized and corrected in its earlier stages.

The disease generally begins by some foreign substance, such as tartar, deposited on the teeth, causing irritation of the gums. Unless this tartar is carefully removed the disease gradually progresses and the tissues around the roots of the teeth are destroyed. Thus pockets are formed about the teeth into which filth and bacteria accumulate.

This condition will generally be manifested by the teeth shifting their position—either spreading apart or rotating or both; pus flowing from the pockets when pressure is made over the tooth root and the affected tooth gradually becoming loose and the gums sore or tender and bleeding easily.

The vital thing for the patient to know is whether or not the tendency towards pyorrhea is evidenced in his mouth and if so what can be done to hold the disease in abeyance or check its progress.

No medicine has ever been suggested which will cure pyorrhea and the sooner this fact is recognized by both dentist and patient the better for all concerned. The best treatment is the thorough removal of all irritating substances of whatever nature and the polishing of all exposed tooth surfaces and the subsequent proper use of the tooth brush, powder or paste to keep teeth and gums in a healthy condition. SPECIAL POLICE

PUT ON EVENINGS

Because of the crowds in the business streets during the afternoons and evenings, Commissioner Gannon has made a few temporary changes in the hours of the police. Officer Whetstone will during the encampment, come on duty at noon each day and work until midnight, and during the early evening hours a special policeman will also be on the streets.

Being very busy trying to get straightened out as to why an adjutant has so much more to say than his superior, and why a private imagines he's the whole regiment, and also having to keep on constant guard not to say right when we mean left, and characterize a maneuver as four right when the whole gang turns at once, we have to make this shaft of wisdom brief today. Also the linotype operator requests it. He's got all kinds of dope ahead of him.

DISCHARGED GUN ON PUBLIC HIGHWAY

GEORGE VAUGA UNDER ARREST—TWO MEN INJURED BY SHOT.

The criminal carelessness of one George Vauga, an employee of the cement works, who in drunken hilarity Saturday afternoon thought to have some target practice, got himself into trouble with the law and nearly cost the lives of John Albu and Glebe Labowski. Vauga, who was heavily drunk, had set a bottle on the top of a post along the highway, and began shooting. At about that time Albu and Labowski passed in the road, and both were hit by some of the small shot, with which the gun was loaded. Albu received a shot between the eyes, and the other man was shot in the shoulder. They hurried to town and had a warrant issued for Vauga's arrest. He was arrested before Justice Heanoken but was too drunk to have a hearing consequently the case was postponed until today, during which time Vauga had time to sober up in the county jail.

nerstone of the country" said the senator.

He thoroughly discussed the question, "Is trade a blessing or curse?" He believes in trade and less tariff. He believes the tax system is wrong. But he did not give a substitute for taxation. He believes the mingling of all races makes good Americans. He believes congress should appropriate $265,000,000 for good roads and agricultural purposes and $9,000,000 for the army and navy. The former sum had been appropriated for the army and navy and the latter for agriculture. He believes senators should be elected by the people. He paid an eloquent tribute to Lincoln. "Lincoln had a patent on nobility, and the patent was countersigned by God Almighty," declared the senator.

He does not approve of big appropriations for waterways. He believes in his country and has faith in its people. Senator Gore's ideas, are in advance of the times, but it is believed by his friends that some of them will prevail.

None criticized adversely his address or statements. They all spoke very highly of the man and his address.

Saturday Evening's Program.

Several thousand people were delightfully entertained Saturday evening in the Assembly auditorium by Miss Grace Shellenbarger and her Knights and Ladies of King Arthur's court. The program consisted of story telling by Miss Shellenbarger and the work of the court was given by the children. The knights were arrayed in their armor and the Ladies in the simple court costume.

A lecture was next given by Dr. Chas. Payne on the Yellowstone National Park. This was highly appreciated and the pictures were beautiful. It proved unusually interesting because of the humor of the lecturer. His colored views are perhaps the best offered in any American travel-lecture, each a work of art. He has not sacrificed thoroughness to distance. He enters into the heart of a race and brings out its secrets. Mr. Payne is not simply a picture man; he is eloquent and scholarly and a genius.

AUGUST MAKING RECORD FOR RAIN

The total for the first fourteen days has been 5.77 inches, while the total for the entire month of July was 3.38. There are sixteen more days in August.

POSTAL SAVINGS BANK IS OPENED

FOUR DEPOSITORS PATRONIZED INSTITUTION FIRST HALF DAY.

Dixon's U. S. postal savings bank was opened for business at 8 a. m. today and Henry Wood, janitor of the federal building here, was first depositor, placing a good sized sum in the hands of Uncle Sam for safe keeping.

The opening of the bank was not accompanied by the rush that has characterized it in some other cities. For at noon but four deposits had been made. However, all of the deposits were for good sums. Postmaster Frye reporting that there were between $400 and $500.

GAIL BORDEN NOT TO CONTEST DIVORCE

WILL EVIDENTLY PERMIT THE SUIT NOW PENDING TO GO BY DEFAULT

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 12.—Gail Borden's indifference to his wife's divorce suit struck Judge Houser so forcibly today that, after hearing the testimony of the plaintiff and her Spanish maid, Louise Grijalva, the judge said he was not satisfied that collusion did not exist and continued the hearing until today, that the husband may be interrogated. Borden, of condensed milk fame, is permitting the suit to go by default, although he is within the jurisdiction of the court.

Miss Olive Bender returned Saturday from Polo, after spending two weeks visiting relatives and friends and also attending the chautauqua.

Too Much Papa.

This bit of humor and pathos is from the Hawaiian Star: "An amusing incident is related of a young service matron who had relinquished her husband for two years and who, having before his departure insisted on a good photograph, applied herself assiduously to the upbringing of her two-year-old baby with a view to the child's familiarity with her distant father. Each day she would call the baby girl to her and, kneeling beside her, would hold up the photograph, pointing out each feature to the child.

"One day the officer came home, and the baby girl, then four years old, was summoned. 'Come dear,' said her mother in glee, 'papa has come home at last!' The child surveyed the officer in perplexity and finally shook her head.

"What is the matter, dear?" asked her mother. 'Well,' replied the child, he looks something like my papa, but my papa hasn't any legs!"

Humor of the Barometer.

It was a beautiful barometer. It glistened from its splendid wooden case with a spick and spanness that boasted of its newness. Its rich frame work clearly advertised the large price that had been paid for it. Its owner was justly proud. But it possessed one drawback—it wouldn't work. Ever since it had been purchased it had remained at "set fair" whatever the weather had happened to be. And the weather had happened to be particularly wet. At last its owner grew weary of its external beauty and exasperated over its internal stupidity. One day when the rain was pouring extra hard he tore the weather indicator from the wall and took it out into the road.

For a moment the needle hesitated. Then as the raindrops began to dim the glass it made up its mind and moved slowly round to "very dry."

London Answers.

THE HANDY MAN.

His Job of Varnishing the Door Was Not a Howling Success.

Mr. Brewster thought his front door looked as though a coat of varnish would do it no harm and resolved to do it himself to save the expense of a painter.

Finding an old "golden sirup" tin in the yard, he went off to the shop for some "best oak varnish." He placed it in the pantry for the night and was up early next morning and by half past 12 had got the door finished.

"I don't like it now it's done," he said to his wife.

"It's bad varnish," replied she. "He's sold you the wrong sort of stuff."

He thought so, too, and went back to the shop, taking what was left with him.

"This is funny varnish you sold me," said he. "It's dull, sticky stuff."

After examining it the shopman said: "This is not what I sold you. This is sirup!"

It then dawned on him that he had got hold of the wrong tin, and he went back home to explain to his wife, who at once said: "Good gracious James! And I've made the pudding with the other tinful!" Then, after a moment's pause, "You'll dine today on roast mutton and varnish pudding!"—Pearson's Weekly.

The Gallery Gods' Applause.

Lawrence Barrett once told of a conversation he had with Edwin Booth. The latter had been congratulated upon an ovation given him by a crowded house on the opening night of an engagement. "The sweetest music to my ears," said the great tragedian, "is the shouting of the boys in the gallery. I know they are not applauding because I have a reputation or because they wish to make a display. They simply give vent to their natural enthusiasm. When they shout I know that I am giving a good performance. As for the parquet, it may clap its hands out of politeness. A dramatic critic who had certain notions as to how a line should be read will applaud if I read it his way; otherwise he will remain quiet. I can never analyze the applause of the front rows, but the gallery is sincere in its likes or dislikes."

Shakespeare's Education.

Shakespeare could not have been an educated man, that is, in the academic sense of the word, for he was a mere youth when he went to London from Stratford and had had, up to that time, only such mental training as he could pick up in the schools of his native town. It nowhere appears that he attended school after leaving Stratford. And yet, as Matthew Arnold says, he lived during his London residence "in a current of ideas in the highest degree animating and nourishing to the creative faculty in a society permeated by fresh thought, intelligent and alive." And he used not only the ideas which he imbibed as they floated around him, but all the learning he could pick up without neglecting his calling.—New York American.

Drawing the Disease Out.

The Chinese have a curious custom of trying to cure a sick man. A friend of the patient obtains a straight branch with a few leaves and twigs at the end. On this he hangs a mirror of polished steel, and under that one of the sick man's coats. Then he goes for a short walk, a priest in the meantime performing a ceremony. The coat, being carried in this way, is supposed to draw the disease from the sufferer.

"But if his love were not genuine how could he put so much fervor into his wooing?"

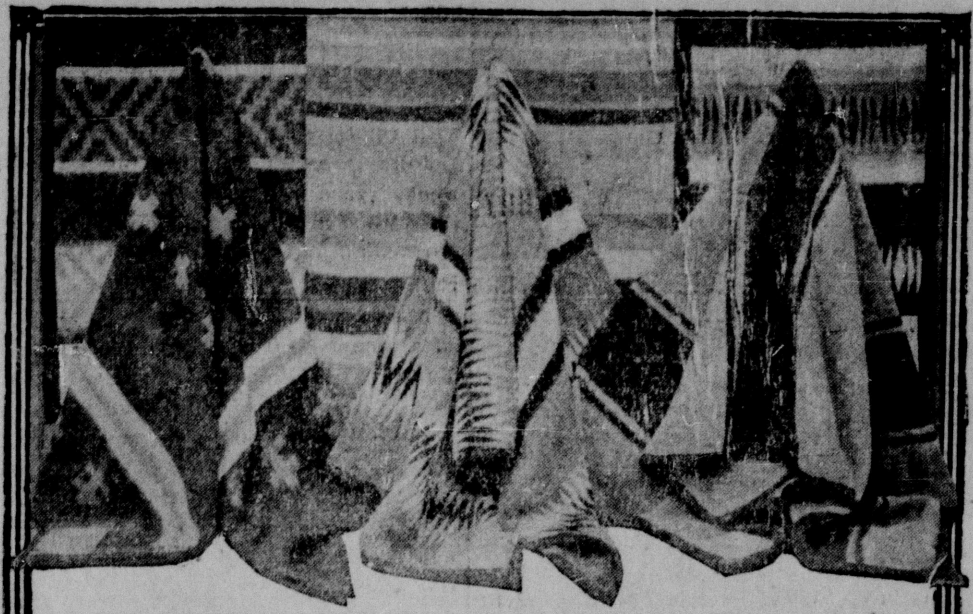

"Oh, a man can dig up considerable fervor when he has to marry money or go to work!"—Exchange.

WITH THE BOYS AT CAMP DENEEN

First dress parade of the encampment was given by the regiment, and Col. Greene, his officers and all of the members of the regiment are to be congratulated for the excellent manner in which they went through the maneuvers for the first time in a year. Our militia men and soldiers who witnessed the parade, expressed themselves as being surprised that the event was gone through so smoothly the first time.

The dress parade is certainly an inspiring sight. If there is one spark of patriotism dormant in the human being it can not resist being aroused and fanned into life by the sight of this splendid military feature. To see the soldiers perform their maneuvers perfectly, to hear the band, to see the Old Flag lowered and to see the profound respect with which officers and men from the Colonel's town salute their flag, imparts a lesson and makes the spectator realize that the state and government are losing a great thing in keeping these bodies of men trained in their country's defense.

Crowd Sees Parade.

A very large crowd for the first evening witnessed the parade. The parade grounds, which as before set forth in this paper, are located across the road west of the camp proper, were surrounded with people long before the bugle calls were given. Finally, when promptly at the time announced, the buglers called the "assembly," the inspiring feature of the day commenced.

Instantly each company formed in its company street, officers and men alike attired in their service uniforms and wearing white gloves. In an incredibly short time the battalions, three companies, were formed and the majors, and their aids, who were mounted, were in charge. Each battalion was then marched across the road, the band having previously been stationed there, and a solid front of soldiers was presented to Col. Greene and his staff, who were mounted and were located at the south part of the field.

Colors Lowered.

Each battalion reported that all were present or accounted for, and at once the band and buglers made a parade of the field, counter-marched and came to their original position. The buglers gave the sounding off call, and to the strains of the Star Spangled Banner, preceded by the booming of the big cannon at the foot of the flag pole, the colors were lowered for the night. They were raised this morning at 5 o'clock, simultaneously with the sunrise gun. After this very pretty ceremony,

Col. Greene put the entire regiment through the manual of arms, called the officers to line in front of him, and then ordered the regiment to pass in review. Led by the band the troops made a march of the field and each company passed before the commanding officer and his staff in double ranks. At the middle of the line came the national and regimental flags, and as they passed the Colonel and every member of his staff doffed their caps and kept them off until the flags were passed. The troops were given many hearty rounds of applause as they passed, and the hospital corps, which brought up the rear, were recipients of especially enthusiastic cheering.

The Band Concert.

Following the parade there was a short period during which the spectators had ample opportunity to visit the camp, walk among the tents and get a closer view of army camp life than many of them had ever seen. At 8 o'clock the Third Regiment band of DeKalb gave a concert in front of the Colonel's headquarters and a large number of citizens remained to hear it.

The Third Regiment band is one of the crack regimental bands of the state and last evening Prof. Tonnieges and his men demonstrated how they earned that praise. The concert given was excellent. The director is undoubtedly a clever musician, and he has the ability of transferring some of his own ability to his men. He has excellent interpretation and as his band is very well balanced, the effects are fine. Among the numbers given by the band last night were Leutner's Fest Overture, Hall's famous Wedding of the Winds, and a very pleasing selection from Robert Bruce. The latter contained many familiar Scotch airs, the kind the people love, and if the musicians had any doubt that their efforts were not going to be appreciated in Dixon, they were corrected by the spontaneous cheers that greeted the number.

Field Day Wednesday.

Among the things in store at the camp are a big field day for the men of the regiment Wednesday afternoon. There will be no drill for the men that afternoon, officers' school being planned, and an afternoon of athletic events has been arranged for the men. There will be ball games, track events, etc., and some liberal prizes have been put up.

Parade in Town.

Col. Greene, who incidentally, is a good fellow, well met and one of the most popular men connected with the state militia, has acquiesced in the request of the Dixon Citizens' association and announces that on Thursday afternoon the entire regiment and band will parade through the business streets of the city. He hasn't definitely set the hour for the parade, but stated that it would be early in the afternoon, as he insists the regiment be allowed the hours from 4 o'clock until dress parade for rest. Which means, of course, that the soldiers must be back to camp by the hour named.

Daily Program.

The following is the daily routine that Col. Greene has arranged for the camp:

POWER IS DOWN;

AMBOY WITHOUT WATER

Amboy News: The electric current from the Oregon plant is out of commission and as a result, the city which pumps its water supply with electricity, is without water. The trouble started yesterday and as no water had been pumped since early in the day, the big tank was entirely empty this morning. This, probably, is a good example of what the people of Amboy may expect as long as the Oregon Power Co. furnish the current from Oregon. Something ought to be done at once to insure the city some sort of decent service.

Could Help Her.
Fussy Lady Patient—I was suffering so much, doctor, that I wanted to die. Doctor—You did right to call me in, dear lady.—London Opinion.

The First Money.

Money is mentioned as a medium of exchange in Genesis, chapter 23, and is supposed to refer to a time as far back as 1800 B. C. The coinage of money is ascribed to the Lydians, a people of Asia Minor. It is, of course, quite impossible to fix any definite date for the first coinage. Long before any one thought to coin money it was made out of any durable substance that came to hand, such as leather, iron, tin, bronze and even the hard bark of the trees and stones of the fields. The Lydians, so late as the middle of the sixteenth century, made money of pasteboard. In fact, pretty nearly everything in the shade of lasting material has at one time or another been used as the medium of trade known as money.

Cutting the Action to the Word.

At a lecture a well known authority on economics mentioned the fact that in some parts of America the number of men was constantly larger than that of women, and he added humorously, "I can therefore recommend to the ladies to emigrate to that part." A young lady who was seated in one of the last rows of the auditorium got up and, full of indignation, left the room rather noisily, whereupon the lecturer remarked, "I did not mean that it should be done in such a hurry."—Judge.

White Specks in Butter.

White specks in butter are sometimes simply fine particles of milk curd, resulting from lack of care in skimming. Sometimes they are small specks of dried cream, having been scraped from the sides of the pan and being too dry to thoroughly soften and mix with the rest.

Married Life, Second Year

"I BELIEVE IT'S COOLER in the dining room than here. We can open the hall door and get a breeze through."

"It isn't cool anywhere, and this apartment's the limit. There's no ventilation in these rooms at all; they're jammed right up against the brick wall. We'll not stay here another summer, I can tell you that!"

"But dear, this is unusually hot weather, we've never had it like this. Yesterday was the hottest day in twelve years. Wasn't that what the papers said?"

"Yes, but this place is insufferable. It's hotter than my office, and that's bad enough. Get on your things, and we'll go out for a car ride. I'm not going to swelter here all evening."

"But dear, what about Winifred?"

"Have Mrs. O'Grady come up and stay with her."

Helen hesitated. She disliked leaving her with the janitor's wife, and yet it was too hot to drag her around a night like this.

"Well, if you want to stay you can, but I'm going out. You've been cooped up here all day, I should think you'd like to get a little air."

"Oh, you know I would, I'd love to! I was only thinking about Winifred."

"Well, get Mrs. O'Grady. She's glad to sit here a couple of hours for 50 cents."

Helen telephoned down to Mrs. O'Grady, who came up at once.

"Where shall we go?" asked Warren, when a little later they had reached the street. "Take the car to One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street and come back on the Riverside bus?"

"Oh, that would be lovely!"

"All right, here comes a car."

But the car was crowded, there was not a seat and several were standing.

"No use trying to get on there, we'll have to wait for the next."

But the next car was even more crowded. Warren swung his cane impatiently. "That's the trouble in trying to get anywhere in New York, you always have to go with the rabble."

"Wait, dear, maybe there'll be some seats on the next one," said Helen, hopefully.

It was several minutes before another came. There were just two seats on the rear platform. Two workmen in their shirt sleeves and a colored boy were the other occupants.

"But it isn't so bad, dear," said Helen. "You really do get a better view on the back seat than anywhere in the car, and it's cool back here."

Warren hung his hat on his cane and ran his hand through his hair.

"It's better than that stuffy apartment, Helen, we're really getting out of it. I meant what I said. I'm not going to spend another summer in that place."

"But, Warren, where can we go? We can't get anything else for what we are paying there."

"Why can't we? There are plenty of apartments in New York."

"But you know the agent made us a special rate on that, and I heard that the first of October they're going to raise all the apartments $10 a month to anyone coming in. Only those who have leases can renew them at the same rates."

"Nonsense! They can't get any more than they are getting for those flats."

"Why, yes, Warren, they're cheap. We have six rooms and a bath for $70. And for that neighborhood that's very low. I don't believe we could get anything else for that."

"Of course you can, it's only a matter of looking for it long enough and go after it right. As soon as this lets up a little we'll go out some afternoon and size up a few places. There," he pointed to some large apartment houses they were passing, "those look like pretty decent places, and I'll wager the rooms would be cool, too."

"But dear, do you want to come so far up?"

"Well, if I take the subway a few more stations don't matter."

"All out! Car ahead!" shouted the conductor.

Warren muttered something about the wretched service of the surface cars. They managed to get a seat in the car ahead, but at the next corner some people crowded in and stood in front of them.

"Come!" Warren rose angrily. "I'm not going to stand for this. Let's get out and walk—it's only a few blocks farther."

They climbed out, making their way with difficulty past a stout woman with a baby on her lap and a man with his legs crossed.

"That's the last time we'll take that line," declared Warren, more and more irritated at each discomfort.

"But, it'll be lovely going back on the bus. It's so beautiful along there by the river," said Helen soothingly.

She was anxiously trying to make their outing a pleasant one. He so often made her feel that it was her fault if things went wrong.

They walked slowly over to Riverside Drive.

"Here, we get the bus over on this side. Jove, look at that crowd waiting! We might have known there'd not be a chance in a hundred of getting a seat."

Helen's heart sank. She dreaded the effect of anything further to irritate him. A bus came up now already crowded. Only two people got down, and fifty struggled to take their place.

"Perhaps the next won't be so crowded," She tried to say it hopefully.

"Nonsense! They're all just like that. If we had any sense we'd have thought of it. This is a nice pleasant trip for a summer evening!" disagreeably. "Come on; we might as well go back the way we came. It's no use waiting here."

"Oh, do wait, dear, for just one more. Here it comes now. You see, they're running them often."

But it, too, was crowded, and there was a mad rush for the one vacated seat on top.

"Come on!" Warren started off. "It's no use hanging around here. Look at that mob of people; they'd fill a dozen buses. But we'll not go back by the way line we came up on, that's certain. We'll go over and take the cross-town car to Madison avenue."

H stalked angrily on ahead. They waited at the corner by a dingy saloon from which came the odor of stale beer. They could see a number of cross-town cars standing at the end of the line down by the ferry. At length one came toward them. Warren stepped to the side of the track, but it clanged on by without stopping.

"Why on earth didn't he stop? They've got to stop at this corner."

"Oh, never mind, dear," here comes another."

Warren shook his cane at this one, but it too passed without stopping.

By this time he was boiling with rage.

"Perhaps they don't stop here. Hadn't we better go down to the ferry and get one," suggested Helen timidly.

"No, we'll get one right here! This is the far corner—the place they have to stop. I'll stop the next car or know the reason why!"

As the next one approached Warren started forward to plant himself in the middle of the track, when the car drew up on the other corner, and they were forced to make an undignified rush to get it.

"What on earth is the matter with you fellows?" Warren spluttered, as he gave the conductor the fare. "Two cars whizzed by me without stopping. You're supposed to stop on the far corner—why don't you do it?"

The conductor shrugged his shoulders indifferently, and rang up the fares without deigning any answer.

"By George!" I'll report that incident fellow! These conductors are a lot of blamed ruffians. If I had my way I'd fire nine-tenths of them."

Helen said nothing, fearing she would only irritate him more. And he rode the rest of the way in sullen silence.

And as Helen gazed out into the street, she asked herself why must so many of their outings end like this? Why was he so easily irritated? Why did he spoil so much of their pleasures in this way?

Embroidery Hoops

Here is a wrinkle which is not generally known and will be useful to the woman who hates to embroider on hoops.

Baste your material very firmly on stiff brown paper in such a manner that there is no danger of slipping. You may bend and crush your work to your heart's desire without danger of disturbing the design.

If the paper catches in the stitch, it need not cause you any uneasiness, as it can easily be torn away after the work is completed.

String Bean Salad

String and cut young, tender beans into three strips. Plunge them into boiling water and cook them for 20 minutes. Drain and throw them into cold water until thoroughly chilled.

Again drain and pour boiling unsalted water over them. Cook for 10 or 15 minutes longer. Drain and stand away to cool. By this method of cooking the beans become tender without being mushy. Serve them on crisp lettuce leaves with chopped parsley and French dressing over them.

Paperhanging

How many sins are committed in the name of beauty at this time it would be hard to compute.

If you are having a couple of bedrooms which open into each other papered, why not try the effect of having one finished in pale soft greens and the other in one of the delicate bedroom grays?

When your rooms are opened you will be surprised to observe what a very large and roomy effect this gives, without being too cold a color scheme for the coming winter. A touch of pink in the rooms will make it yet more cozy.

Cheese Balls

Beat the whites of two eggs to a stiff froth, then stir into this two heaping tablespoons of grated cheese, a little salt and a good seasoning of fine pepper. Shape these into tiny balls, drop them into plenty of smoking hot fat, and fry a golden brown color. Drain on white paper, dust with grated cheese and serve quickly, for they fall if allowed to stand.

Gravy Spot

When gravy has been spilled by some hapless diner on your pet tablecloth rub the grease spot thoroughly with French chalk on both sides of the cloth. Fold the cloth and leave it alone until the next time it is needed. Lightly brush off the chalk with a soft whisk, and presto! your cloth will be as spotless as when freshly laundered.

Green Pea Frillers

Two cups of boiled green peas mashed while hot with pepper, butter and salt, two well beaten eggs, a cupful of milk and half a cupful of sifted flour. Beat till smooth and fry the same as breakfast cakes.

SAUTED SOFT SHELL CRABS.—Wash the crabs thoroughly to free them from sand; lift up the flaps and remove the gills, sandbags and intestines. Dry thoroughly on a towel, dust with salt and pepper and roll each in flour. Heat two or more tablespoonsful of butter in a frying pan, lay in the prepared crabs and saute on one side, then turn and cook on the other. Drain for a moment on unglazed paper and serve in a hot dish, sprinkling them with finely chopped parsley.

MINT ICE.—Strip from the stems sufficient mint leaves to fill one cup. packed measure. Pound them to a pulp, add the juice of two lemons and let stand for half an hour. Boil together for five minutes one pint of water and one pound of granulated sugar, pour it over the mint, and let stand until cold. Strain, color it a delicate green, add two tablespoonsful of creme de menthe and freeze.

DEATH FROM PLAGUE IN INDIA.

Until Recently no Action Taken by the English Government.

In 1902 the number of deaths from plague in India was 853,000; in 1904 it was over 1,000,000, being 1,040,000. Of the 1,000,000 deaths more than 350,000 occurred in one province, and that province was the Punjab, the one from which some of our best Indian soldiers are recruited. Consider the possible significance of a fact like this upon the efficiency of our Indian army. The Punjab is not a large province, its actual population being about 20,000,000, or only two-thirds that of England, and yet the deaths in the Punjab during 1904 from plague amounted to over 250,000 in the course of twelve weeks only.

We believe that these figures, which have been published before, have never been contradicted, though they seem incredible. What would be thought, said or done in England if in the course of twelve weeks over 250,000 persons were swept off by the disease? Surely there would be something like a panic. And if this destruction threatened to be an annual one would not any inactivity on the part of the authorities in whom prevention is vested be deeply resented?

The small number of deaths from plague in Hong Kong and the Mauritius is regularly published every week in the daily papers, and presumably the information comes from official sources, but the mortality which occurs in India from the same disease, and which by its magnitude is a danger not only to India, but to the world, is never published—it is not considered wholesome reading.

Three and a half millions of people have died from the plague in India since 1896, and the proposal to send out two bacteriologists to look into the causes of the tragedy strikes us as inadequate, however capable and distinguished the gentlemen connected with the joint inquiry may be, and indeed are.—London Lancet.

YOUNG PRISONER OF STATE.

Five Year Old Chinese Girl Has Been Held Here Four Years.

The youngest prisoner in the United States is Yute Ho Ji, aged five. She has been a prisoner of Uncle Sam for more than four years, says the San Francisco Bulletin. The crime for which she is paying the penalty is the crime of being a girl baby, which in China is a crime indeed. She was born in an interior village in China, and her mother was very glad to take the $10 offered by a woman who went there from San Francisco to buy slave girls for the San Francisco Chinatown.

She was happy, this slave dealer, when she sighted San Francisco on her return journey, and she shuffled easily along the pier when she left the boat. The inspectors all knew her, for she had been back and forth many times. It was because they knew her that they questioned her about the little bundle in her arms. She told them the baby was her own, for it is a lie that comes first to a Chinaman's lips.

This was her undoing. In the court she added lie to lie, but in the end the judge knew that the baby had not been born to her. The infant could not be deported, because no amount of questioning could make the woman reveal the home of the child. On the other hand, she could not be entered, and babies under a year are too little to go to jail. At length the judge decided to turn his little prisoner over to a mission that makes a business of rescuing Chinese slave women, with the agreement of 40 cents a day for her board. In the four years she has been at the mission Yute Ho Ji has become the pet of the household, and it seems to be an instance of the punishment fitting the crime.

Car for Chinese Empress.

The Empress of China has ordered in France a handsome car in which she will travel on the Chinese railways. It is now ready for shipment and is about the length of a Pullman car. At each end there is a balcony with balustrades of hammered iron. The car is divided into six compartments, the first two being upholstered in blue satin and devoted to the suite. Then comes the Empress' room, which is the width of the carriage and is lighted by six large windows. The ceiling is decorated with paintings, and the furniture consists of a large oaken table and half a dozen wide and comfortable arm chairs. At each end of the saloon are two huge divans, which also serve as beds, and beyond is a beautifully fitted dressing room with every modern luxury. The kitchen and offices take up the rest of the car, which is fitted throughout by electricity.

Child Murder in Caledonia.

This tale comes from New Caledonia, where a ship was loading up with natives to work in Australia. "There was a man and a girl—a young couple, they seemed. She had a youngster, who began yelling at sight of the boat. 'Can't take that youngster!' the boss shouted. The woman said she wanted to come, too. 'No, we can't ship that squalling little beast. Leave him with his auntie.' There was no auntie in sight. So the Kakaka man, after taking a look around caught the kid by the heels, swung her round like a rabbit, and dashed her head against a tree. 'She was only a girl anyway,' he said, and slung her body into the scrub. Then they both hopped into the boat and were shipped aboard."

SKUNK SKIN AND SKUNK OIL.

Yields a Profitable Annual Revenue in the State of Maine.

Fashion in furs regulates the price of skunk skins. Three years ago the coat of a dark skunk was worth from $2.50 to $3 and there were not enough to supply the demand. Since then the muskrat has supplanted the skunk as the wearer of a profitable skin, and only the very choicest of skunk pelts sell for $2 this season.

But when there are from ten to a dozen fat skunks to be had on every acre of meadow land, when a hardwood club is the only weapon required in the killing, and when every fat skunk, regardless of its color, holds more than a quart of oil, which is worth $5 a gallon wholesale, there are always men who will chase skunks for the money there is in the business.

From 100,000 to 150,000 skunks are slain in Maine every year. The practice of killing the black ones and leaving those of a lighter color to perpetuate the race has reduced the income received from the furs to a small figure and has practically exterminated the dark skunks, but the demand for skunk oil is steadily growing and the price has gone up $1 a gallon since last year.

The oil is used by residents of Maine, who esteem it highly for its virtues in curing rheumatism and stiff joints, and the druggists send many gallons out of the State to be sold in Boston and New York. It is probable that nearly 25,000 gallons of skunk oil is produced in Maine every year.

Most of that used locally is pure, but some of the oil sent out of the State is adulterated with fat obtained from hens and woodchucks. As the impure oil seems to effect as many cures as the genuine article, the men who work the imposition on the public stand small chance of detection.

Most of the skunk pelts taken in Maine are sent to Philadelphia, where they are tanned, dipped in a black dye and made up into furs for export to France and Germany. In which countries they pass as monkey skins.

The killing of skunks lasts for about a month, by which time all the fat ones that contain oil have been denuded for the winter. It is estimated that the Maine skunks yield an annual revenue of from $125,000 to $150,000, which is double the sum made from all the honey bees in the State.

LOST ARTS OF THE ANCIENTS.

Many Abandoned Because New Knowledge Makes Them Useless.

Not as much as we used to, but occasionally even yet, one hears of some wonder accomplished by the ancients which cannot be done now. Not so many years ago it was quite commonly asserted that modern workmen could not quarry or, having quarried, could not handle stones as large as the monoliths of Egypt, and the writer has heard a public speaker of note assert that it would be impossible to handle with modern implements such large stones as were used in the pyramids, or to join them as perfectly as they are joined there; yet, when occasion arose, larger stones than any of these were quarried in Maine, and some of the larger monoliths themselves were transported, not only to the sea, but across it, and erected in England, France and America, and there are individuals to-day who might, if they chose, cause the transportation to and erection in this country of the largest pyramids, or build new ones ten times larger and more durable. Pyramids are not being generally built, nowadays, because they are not in line with the trend of modern ambition; that's all.

It is very doubtful if a "Damascus blade" would stand half as severe usage as a modern band saw blade, or even as much as the spring of a forty cent clock; while the ornamentation of those wondrous blades, so far as the mechanical execution is concerned, can be excelled by apprentices and amateurs of to-day.

The Kaiser's Busy Days.

The Kaiser's reputation as the most strenuous of modern monarchs would seem to be thoroughly well deserved, if we may judge from some statistics of his energy which have recently been published in Berlin. During the last twelve months he has, we are told, personally attended to 5,857 "foreign matters," and to 50,200 dealing with home affairs. But the total of nearly 5,000 "matters" a month to which he has given personal attention take up only a fraction of his energy. There were another 100,145 "matters" (one would like to know the exact meaning of this expression, by the way) the settlement of which was left to private Cabinet, but of which he had personal cognizance. Besides all this, he has written (for which, presumably, we may read signed) more than 7,000 letters, telegrams, orders, or other documents.—T. P.'s Weekly.

Hearts That Beat After Death.

Hearts of cold-blooded animals will beat for a comparatively long period after death or removal from the body (if kept cool and moist), because of powerful internal collection of nerves, known as ganglia, whose automatic impulses cause the regular contractions of the muscles. Similar ganglia exist in man and other warm-blooded animals, but their action is less prolonged. A turtle's heart, after removal, has been known to beat thirty-six, or even forty-eight hours. Twelve or fourteen hours is a common record.

CURSE OF HASHEESH IN EGYPT

Threatens to Become as Great a Vice as Opium Among Chinese.

The Egyptian government has failed in an effort to prevent the importation of hashesh from Greece. The government had also failed to induce Greece to prohibit the growing of the pernicious drug on Greek soil. Greece objects because hashesh produces a very large revenue and its cultivation employs thousands of people.

The smoking of hashesh, or Indian hemp, has become as great a habit among the fellahs of Egypt as opium among Chinamen, and the efforts of the government to eradicate the vice have failed. Greece, however, intimates it may consent to lay a heavy export tax upon the drug, in the effort to reduce its consumption, but that will not avail in reducing the prevalence of the vice, it merely will cause the slaves of the drug in Egypt to spend more to obtain it.

The Government of Egypt does not approve of the heavy export duty, because it will offer additional temptations to the smugglers of hashesh. Smuggling of hashesh into Egypt is now a large and profitable industry.

Not many years ago a high official of one of the consulates in Cairo was detected in a conspiracy to smuggle hashesh. The customs authorities discovered that this official was receiving thousands of pounds annually, which he disposed of to the dealers in the bazaars at a great profit. The consular official received the drug under his consular seal.

Hashesh is the curse of the Egyptian peasant, hundreds of thousands having learned to smoke the drug during the past five years.—New York Mail.

NEW NAVY FOR RUSSIA.

It can be Created in Strength Within Five Years.

The naval section of the Imperial Russian Technical Society has just completed an investigation as to the possibilities of constructing a new Russian fleet in Russian shipbuilding yards and has arrived at the conclusion that this can be done. In five years time, it is stated, that the Baltic works can build 8 first class cruisers, and the Galerny Island and New Admiralty yards 12 first class battleships. Kronstadt, with its Peter Dock, is in a position to construct armored cruisers of the improved Bayan type and sea going gunboats or torpedo transports. Torpedo cruisers and submarines may be ordered of the Neva works and of Lange's works in Riga. Sea going torpedo boats (including destroyers) and coast defence torpedo boats can be successfully built in the small shipbuilding yards of Finland, Riga, Reval, and Libau, which may take in hand the construction of part of the torpedo transports or storeships required.

The Potliye works can complete in the same period four cruisers of the Bayan type and a number of torpedo boats and gunboats. As to the works in the south of Russia, it is estimated that Nikoloff and Sevastopol can complete 4 battleships, 4 cruisers of the Bayan type, and some torpedo boats. In regard to machinery, orders may be placed, beside the Baltic works, with the Franco-Russian, Sormovo, Brinsk, St. Petersburg Metal Works and Nikoloff works.—Page's Weekly.

Unclaimed Wealth in England.

How many millions of pounds worth of property lies unclaimed to-day in the form of shares, dividends, deposits of money, plate and jewels in the hands of bankers, companies, solicitors, auctioneers, and others?

This is the fascinating question raised by the writers of a letter, who urge the Chancellor of the Exchequer to lay hands upon the spoil and devote it to the increase of national revenue.

Unclaimed wealth in the hands of the Crown and funds in Chancery amount to more than $50,000,000.

Is it possible that the funds in private hands amount to Come and see our crops; they are twice as good as in the county west of us, and last year we had many times the grain raised in Towner county. Our altitude and clay subsoil with shale below makes the difference. Even last year some grain crops sold for enough to pay for the land. They will do it again this year and I would not trade one quarter here for ten quarters in parts of South Dakota, where land has sold for more than the price of this and some for twice as much. Two Women.

In her book "Woman and Labor" Olive Schreiner gives an amusing illustration of the fact that it is not the amount of money a person has which makes him or her a parasite on society, but the way it is used. "The wife of an American millionaire," says Mrs. Schreiner, "was visited by a woman, the daughter and widow of a small professional man. She stated that she was in need of both food and clothing. The millionaire's wife gave her a leg of mutton and two valuable dresses. The woman proceeded to wine, though in vigorous health, that she had no one to carry them home for her. The American, the descendant of generations of able, laboring, New England Puritan women, tucked the leg of mutton under one arm and the bundle of clothes under the other and walked off down the city street toward the woman's dwelling, followed by the astonished pauper parasite."

Found Out His Man.

A southerner who was visiting St. Louis wandered into the dining room of the hotel and, seeing a negro servant who had all the importance of an army officer standing near the door, asked him who the "head nigger" was around there. The negro stretched himself to his full height and pompously replied that there ain't no niggers in St. Louis, sah. We is all gem-meh of color.

"Well," said the southerner, drawing a $100 bill from his pocket and fingering it, "I expect to be at this hotel for some time and want to make sure that I will be taken care of."

"Oh, sah," said the negro, whose eyes were popping from his head, "did you want to know who the head nigger waiter is? That's me."—Allentown Call.

Where Bluebeard Lived.

Most of our readers have heard of Bluebeard, the enterprising gentleman who made a hobby of marriage and had a way of his own for getting rid of superfluous wives. Probably very few people, however, know that the story has any sort of basis in fact. Yet on the banks of the world famous Bosphorus near Constantinople there is situated a picturesque old medieval fortress known as "Bluebeard's castle" and which is said to have been the abode of a terrible old pasha, whose playful little ways gave rise to the story.—Wide World Magazine.

FLYER LEAVES TRACK

Accident on Pennsylvania Line at Fort Wayne, Ind.

Four Persons Are Killed and More Than Thirty Are Seriously Injured.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Aug. 14.—Four persons were killed and more than thirty seriously hurt when the Pennsylvania railroad eighteen-hour flyer while making up lost time, ran off the track at the western entrance of the city.

It is believed at least four or five of the injured will die. The splendid train was half destroyed. The two massive locomotives which were pulling it at 60 miles an hour are a total wreck. The rails are spread and it will take a day to put the track in condition.

The dead, it is reported, were: Engineer, believed to be either Adrick or Barber, buried under wreckage. Creigh, W., Fort Wayne, fireman on flyer. Snyder, believed to have lived in Chicago; died in St. Joseph's hospital. The injured: Serbold, J. E., Chicago, sprained wrist.

Dostheny, Dan, Chicago. Chatelet, C. C., Chicago. Thomas, W. H., No. 3217 State St., Chicago.

Those in the dining car were thrown into a heap at one end as the train left the rails. Some one broke a dining car window and the diner filled with escaping steam, causing a panic in which men fought the women aside until they could get out themselves.

MOVE AGAINST MAGONISTS

Nine Hundred Federal Troops Ordered to Proceed to Torreón.

Monterey, Mex., Aug. 14.—The report that there is a force of more than five hundred Magonistas camped in the La Guana district not far from Torreón was confirmed. Orders have been issued for nine hundred federal troops to proceed to Torreón. The Magonistas of all the other towns in the states of Coahuila and Durango will be strengthened. It is said. Owing to the riotous and revolutionary disturbances which have been going on for some days in the town of Matamoros, Izucar, in the state of Puebla, the authorities have ordered troops to be sent there from Mexico to maintain order. Later advice indicate that complete anarchy reigns at Matamoros, Izucar, and excozes of all kinds are being committed with impunity.

CALLAHAN ONE WHO CAME BACK

After Six Year Layoff Outfielder Puts Up Great Game.

PLAYS BALL FOR FUN OF IT.

Worth a Fortune, is an Actor and Politician in Chicago, but Loves Baseball—Quit Job as Plumber's Helper to Break Into Pastime.

While carrying a bathtub on the back of his neck and drawing $4.50 a week for the same Jimmy Callahan sat down on the curbstone in the outskirts of Fitchburg, Mass., one hot afternoon, and his youthful brow began to wrinkle with thought waves.

Across the street he saw a cluster of ball players climbing into a bus. A newspaper near at hand informed the young plumber's apprentice that those fellows were getting $150 a month for busting a baseball in the eye and then had the rest of the day off. For a half hour Jimmy grappled with this problem and then, with a sigh, picked up his bathtub and moved on. By the time he had arrived at his destination young Callahan, who in those days was called "Nixy," threw down the bathtub and threw up his job.

As a result of that desperate move on the part of Jimmy, though still a plumber at heart, he is today the owner of a ball park in Chicago, is a political leader of great popularity, is an actor—a good one at that—during the off months, has a stocking full of gold laid away in the safe, is back with the White Sox after a six years' absence and is one of the leading hitters of the American league. With all that he is one of the most popular ballplayers that ever blistered an umpire.

"This coming back stuff is no wonderful thing," explained Callahan recently. "I never abused myself by drinking or excessive smoking, and while I was out of the big league I was playing ball once every week with the semipro teams around Chicago. When I started in this year I didn't have to take off weight."

Callahan is simply a born ball player and can't get away from it. For years he was a star pitcher, and when his arm began to grow weak he proved his versatility by going to the outfield and becoming a star there. After six years' absence he is today hitting 330. Jimmy Callahan has a very keen sense of humor, which accounts for his success as a monologist. He dares to tell of the day when he packed up his things in Fitchburg and started for Philadelphia to become a big league pitcher. That was in 1894, seventeen years ago last June. After throwing up his job of carrying bathtubs Callahan played regularly with a team at Fitchburg and was known far and wide as a coming pitcher. Finally Arthur Irwin, who was managing the Philadelphia club, heard of the youngster and offered him a job.

The first thing Jimmy did before starting was to send on his photograph to Philadelphia, thinking the whole town would be interested. He then packed his belongings—one shirt, two pairs of socks, two collars and a baseball glove—into a little blue knicker. Get that "knicker?" Well, a knicker is composed of two paper mache slides, something like an old fashioned telescope. The clothes are put in between them, and then a leather strap binds them together.

This blue knicker was the pride of Callahan's heart, and with buoyant spirits he got off the train in Philadelphia. By some strange mishap there was no crowd at the depot to meet the new pitcher, and Jimmy was keenly disappointed. He couldn't understand it any more than he could the fact that his picture had not appeared in any of the newspapers. This he blamed on the mails.

Nursing his disappointment as best he could and shouldering his knicker, Jimmy went to the hotel and registered, which was quite an important formality. After finishing his signature with a flourish he turned the register around so that the clerk could see it plainly. Callahan then sneaked out his chest and waited for the shock to the poor clerk. Again there was a pang of disappointment. The young man had never heard of him, and to add insult to injury the clerk looked him squarely in the eye and said: "It will be $3 in advance, as you have no baggage."

This was another blow to Jimmy as well as his knicker, but he paid his last three bucks, took the room, and said nothing. "After gazing around at the other players' neat suit cases I began to get ashamed of my knicker."

"Out of $25 advance money which the manager gave me I paid the maid a dollar to take that knicker and burn it up. With $10 of my funds I paid the first installment on a diamond stud, and then I was a big leaguer."

Jimmy forgot to say that he first appeared in a $6.50 blue serge suit just off the dummy, which blew out of shape in the first big wind, and he couldn't get it on again.

In due time Callahan got his first trial, and he played through the league from the start.

The only reason for Callahan quitting the game six years ago was that he wanted to make money. Now that he has made it he says he wants to remain on the diamond until they cut the uniform from his back.

VERIFY IT.

THE PROOF IS IN DIXON ALMOST AT YOUR DOOR.

The public statement of a Dixon citizen is in itself strong proof of Dixon people, but confirmation strengthens the evidence.

Here is a Dixon citizen who testified years ago that Doan's Kidney Pills relieved sick kidneys and now states the cure was permanent. Can any sufferer from kidney ills ask better proof? You can investigate. The case is right at home.

Mrs. W. H. Randall, 423 College Ave., Dixon, Ill., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been used in our home with the best of results and I feel that I cannot praise them too highly. One member of our family suffered for some time from backache and severe pains across the kidneys and found great difficulty in stooping. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Leake Bros. & Co.'s Drug Store brought prompt relief, removing all symptoms of kidney complaint. We value this remedy very highly. (Statement given April 14, 1909).

A Lasting Effect.

On January 11, 1910, Mrs. Randall said: "Doan's Kidney Pills made a permanent cure in the case of a member of our family. I still have great confidence in this remedy and willingly permit the further publication of my former statement in its favor."

The Exceptional Young Man.

The exceptional young man, says Orison Sweet Marden in Success Magazine, is the one who looks upon his employer's interests as he would his own, who regards his vocation as an opportunity to make a man of himself, an opportunity to show his employer the stuff he is made of, and who is always preparing himself to fill the position above him.

The exceptional young man is the one who never says, "I was not paid to do that." "I don't get salary enough to work after hours or to take so much pains." He never leaves things half done, but does everything to a finish. The exceptional young man is the one who studies his employer's business, who reads its literature, who is on the watch for every improvement which others in the same line have adopted and which his employer has not, who is always improving himself during his spare time for larger things.
